

My Grizzly Bear Report

By Caden Curtis

Introduce the animal.

Would you like to know about grizzly bears?

They are so interesting.

Where does it live?

Grizzly bears live in North America. Brown

bears also live in Europe.

What is the habitat like?

Some forests have changing seasons where the leaves change colors.

Evergreen trees stay

green all year long.

What does it eat?

Grizzly Bears are

omnivores. They eat grass, insects, nuts and fish, and fruit.

Who are the predators?

Grizzly bears have no

natural predators, but humans have been known to hunt them.

What about the baby?

A baby grizzly bear is called a cub. They are born during the winter

and stay with their mother for two years.

Did you know?

Did you know that grizzly

bears do not hibernate

during the winter? They have Their babies in the winter.

Grizzly bears have brown

fur and black noses.

They can run about 35

miles per hour

and eat up to 90 pounds

per day.

Now you know...

As you can see, there is a lot to know about

grizzly bears.